Riddle me this

I spin around but never dance,
I point one way with no advance.
I don't get lost, I help you steer—
What am I that brings direction near?

If you're lost, I'm your mate,
I help you navigate.
I point to poles, not doors or gates—
Use me right and tempt no fates!

I have four brothers, bold and bright,
Always arguing who's right.
One goes up, one goes down,
Two go sideways through the town.
Who are we?

I'm round and full of numbers too,
Turn me to know just what to do.
Line me up and I will say—
Which way to go, which path, which way!
